

The more I learn about the allocation of broadcast space in the U.S., the more it stinks. Don't attack our democracy in the name of capitalism by allowing a small corporate group to effectively control the understanding of our citizens. That is shameful, and your duty to the public interest mandates at the very least keeping current ownership rules intact. Hopefully, your Democratically-appointed successors will strengthen them. Respectfully - Lee Thompson